

Gck distribution box

Overview

GCK Type refers to a low-voltage power distribution enclosure designed for managing and distributing electrical energy in industrial and commercial environments. Such features include a high breaking capacity and thermal. The GCK low-voltage withdrawable switchgear consists of two parts: the Power Center (PC) cabinet and the Motor Control Center (MCC). Each technical parameter all reaches national standards. With characteristics of advanced structure, beautiful appearance, high electric. It is suitable for AC three-phase five-wire power supply systems with 50 (60)Hz, rated voltage 400V, 660V, 800V, rated current equal and less than 6300A. as AC 50Hz, the maximum operating voltage is 660V, and the maximum. Low-voltage drawer switchgear is suitable for power plants, substations, petrochemical departments, factories and mining enterprises, high-rise buildings and other low-voltage power distribution system, distribution and motor control center, capacitance compensation, electric energy conversion.
